Workshop Only Registration

We are often asked if we have a "day rate" for the retreat by those who live locally or who have family or friends in the area. We regret that we cannot offer such a rate, since the costs of the retreat are negotiated to include rental on meeting spaces, food, retreat costs, and other services. Plus, we really feel that the biggest blessing of the retreat is in getting to know other homeschooling moms and connecting on a personal basis. However, we can offer the option of attending just the two Saturday morning workshops and taking a quick peek at the curriculum tables for those who'd like such an option. This option is also available for your guests if you'd like someone local to see and hear about WinterPromise for the first time. The cost is $30, which helps toward the room rental, etc. Registration includes the following on Saturday morning, May 1st.

Note: You will have to pay for parking at the Gaylord, which is expensive -- around $18 a day, and may not allow you re-entry if you exit for lunch.
